THE HISTORICAL AND LUXURIOUS ART OF BATHING

Hurrem Sultan Hammam in İstanbul was designed and built by Mimar Sinan, the chief Ottoman architect. It was built by the order of Sultan Suleiman the Magnificent for his wife Hurrem Sultan (Roxelana) in the 16th century (1556- 1557 AD) where the ancient public baths of Zeuxippus (100- 200 AD) used to stand, between the Blue Mosque and the Hagia Sophia. The area is also particularly significant as the site where the Temple of Zeus once stood. Hurrem Sultan Bath which was commissioned in 2008 with build-operate-transfer model was restored according to its original features by a large investment. Hurrem Sultan Hammam, which preserved its unique structure for 450 years opened a new era in Turkish Bath architecture and has the title of being the first structure where women and men sections are on the same axis. Bath is showing differences from classical period Ottoman Bath architecture with its double both shape and 75 M length. In Turkish Hammam where coldness, warmness, hotness sections and women hotness, warmness and coldness sections follow each other; all domes are covered with lead.

Tüyap Fair and Congress Center is the largest privately owned exhibition center in Turkey, with a closed exhibition area of 120,000 m² and an open exhibition area of 25,000 m². The center operates in 14 halls and has 33 fully equipped meeting rooms that can accommodate over thousands of people. WHERE GREEN MEETS BLUE

According to the warning of United Nations (UN), we have 10 years left to prevent irreversible damage from climate change. Istanbul, as a city where green meets with blue, is trying to take preventive precautions on this issue with its eco-friendly technologies, zero waste projects and green buildings.

As a metropole with a population of 15 million, Istanbul has 25 natural parks in total on 50 million m² area. These parks have bicycle roads, picnic areas, trekking areas, hand-line fishing areas and wildlife scenery areas. 9 of them are on the Asian side and 16 of them are located on the European side of the city. The city is trying to develop eco-friendly technologies, create a natural environment, reduce energy usage and use minimal non-renewable resources. Istanbul is focusing on the protection of the global climate for present and future generations.

Culturally, Turks have a saying that goes like this: “Even on Judgement day, if you have a plant in your hand, you should plant it to the ground before you die.” In Türkiye, respecting the nature and saving it is a part of the culture.

DID YOU KNOW?

Due to its location, Istanbul has a complex climate that both carries the properties of Mediterranean climate and interacts with the surrounding climate zones.

CLEAN ENVIRONMENT AND WATER

Istanbul built drinking water network lines, purification plants and barrages for the city in order to remove the water problem of the city. Melen Barrage, which is still being constructed, will be completed in a few years and the city will not have any problems with water for a very long time. 99 percent of the waste water in Istanbul are purified in 81 different biological purification facilities.

ZERO WASTE

Istanbul is the largest city in Türkiye and its population continues to grow constantly. Waste management is one of the most important issues in Istanbul and the city is actively working to keep it clean. The zero waste project of Türkiye, which emerged as a waste management philosophy, envisages the most efficient use of resources by preventing waste or minimizing the amount of waste when it is generated. The project aims to reduce the volume of non-recyclable waste. The project is also listed in the Environmental Performance Review of the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development. The recycling rate is 46% in the European Union countries compared with 13% in Türkiye.

ECO-FRIENDLY TECHNOLOGIES

Istanbul Metropolitan Municipality hosts World Cities Congress event in Istanbul every year. The event focuses on smart city technologies of the future and sustainability. On last year's event, The Istanbul Electric Tram and Tunnel Company (IETT) introduced its innovative shuttle, city's first self-driving eco-friendly electric vehicle. This year, the municipality announced a new recycling project. Residents of Istanbul are receiving free credit on their passenger cards in exchange of bottles and cans. The municipality's automated "smart containers" are able to collect 0.33-, 0.50-, 1- and 1.5-liter beverage cans and bottles.

GREEN BUILDINGS

U.S. Green Building Council (USGBC) created the LEED green building rating system in 1998 and the certificates have been provided to buildings ever since. LEED, or Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design, is the most widely used green building rating system in the world. Available for virtually all building, community and home project types, LEED provides a framework to create healthy, highly efficient and cost-saving green buildings. LEED certification is a globally recognized symbol of sustainability achievement. Every year, USGBC shares the "Top 10 Countries and Regions for LEED Green Building" list and last year, Türkiye was in the 10th place. There's a LEED for every type of building project and Istanbul's buildings are getting greener each and every day.

SUSTAINABILITY

THE NET ZERO CARBON EVENTS INITIATIVE IS GLOBAL EVENTS INDUSTRY'S CAMPAIGN TO ADDRESS CLIMATE CHANGE AND TO ACHIEVE NET ZERO CARBON BY 2050 AT THE LATEST.

NET ZERO CARBON EVENT INITIATIVE

Event industry shareholders gathered and set out a common framework in order to address climate change and achieve “net zero carbon” goal by 2050 at the latest. The initiative was launched in August 2021 and announced the “Route to Net Zero” roadmap in November 2022. It has more than 400 supporting organizations from 55 countries, including 275 event operators. 225 of those operators signed the Net Zero Carbon Events Pledge.

Event industry is committed to play its role within the goals of the United Nations’ Sustainable Development Guidelines (UNSDGs). 5 Action Areas of the initiative show where collaborative effort is needed to decarbonize. The main titles of the areas are Energy, Production & Waste, Food & Food Waste, Freight & Logistics and Travel. According to the initiative, the Net Zero Carbon Events Pledge signatories commit to the four actions stated below:

1-Before the end of 2023, publishing the organization’s pathway to achieve Net Zero by 2050 at the latest, with an interim target in line with the Paris Agreement’s requirement to reduce global GHG emissions by 50% by 2030.

2-Collaborating with partners, suppliers and customers to drive change across the value chain.

3-Measure and track its Scope 1, 2 and 3 GHG emissions according to industry best practice.

4-Report on progress at least every two years.

SUSTAINABILITY STRATEGIES

Sustainable development is the main focus of the world for a while now. In that context, destinations have been shaping their future plans accordingly. Türkiye Tourism Promotion and Development Agency (TGA) has a “Sustainability Tourism Program” focused on improving the national sustainable tourism standards in cooperation with all domestic and international stakeholders of the country. That being the case, Türkiye Sustainable Tourism Industry Criteria (TR-I) have been built to ensure sustainable growth of the Turkish tourism industry and to develop a common understanding about Turkish tourism with the participation of all tourism stakeholders. TR-I was developed to be implemented by accommodation facilities and tour operators. In this respect, TR-I includes both criteria that comply with the social and cultural structure of Türkiye and globally recognized sustainable tourism criteria. TR-I has four main themes: sustainable management, socio-economic impacts, cultural impacts and environmental impacts. TR-I standard includes mandatory principles and practices of the Republic of Türkiye Ministry of Culture and Tourism to be adopted by the Turkish tourism industry.

Sightseeing Tours

You can choose from a wide selection of sightseeing tours to experience Istanbul's amazing artifacts and beautiful sceneries.

Istanbul is a rich city: in traditions, history, culture, art, food and many others things.

If you have only one day to spend in Istanbul, the best way to get the most out of the city is to indulge in the sights, sounds, and scents of the famous Sultanahmet area. Here, you can get a feel of the rich Byzantine heritage, the glory of the Imperial Capital and the welcoming city of today. From glittering mosaics to aspiring minarets, from royal magnificence to the buzzing rhythm of everyday life, Sultanahmet will offer you the ultimate Istanbul experience in a nutshell.

Start your day by visiting Hagia Sophia, almost an embodiment of the Istanbul's history. Once you step out from Hagia Sophia, just walk straight and you will be approaching the magnificent Blue Mosque. The next is Topkapi Palace. We suggest you to have a quick bite before entering the Palace, because even a quick visit takes a few hours. One of the oldest and largest covered markets in the world, the Grand Bazaar dates from the 15th century. This is the perfect place to end your visit by shopping for some souvenirs for beloved ones back home!

If you plan to stay for more days in Istanbul, you can have a taste of its history as well as modern marvels. Since Istanbul is such a big city, you will still need to hurry if you want to make most of it. The main attraction spot for every tourist from any part of the world, the iconic Taksim Square is always vibrant with cheerful tourists taking selfies before the monument or the historic tram. Just continue down the Istiklal Street until you reach a quarter that looks like a small Italian pizza. It is beyond simple likeness, because this little square, which is home to the Galata Tower, was once a Genoese neighbourhood. From Galata, make sure you walk towards Çukurcuma, Cihangir and Karaköy.

These neighbouring quarters offer not only an enjoyable walk along narrow streets dotted with historic facades of old Istanbul, but also include best vintage shops in town.

Be a Part of Istanbul's 8500 Year Old History

Look around in Istanbul and you will see marvelous buildings with the touch of the best architects of their time, the sparkling lights of the Bosphorus Bridge, the elegant blue tiles of mosques and the mosaics of Christianity.

Istanbul, one of the most ancient cities in the world, surely deserves to be called "an open air museum". With its 8,500 years of history, the city had various names such as Byzantium, Augusta Antonina, Dersaadet, Asitane, Constantinople, and Konstantiniye, and was eventually named Istanbul.

According to records, the city is founded by colonists led by Byzas in 7 BC. Once settled by Byzantines, the city became the trade and commerce center. In 330 AD, Constantine I allowed the Christianity to the public. In 1453 Sultan Mehmet II conquered the city which served as the Ottoman Empire's capital until 1923.

All of these historical empires created their own arts, architects and monuments. The old city area in Istanbul - now called "Sultanahmet" - is where those rulers mostly built their cultural, social and political life. Built by the order of Byzantine Emperor Justinian I in the 6th century, Hagia Sophia (Ayasofya), the Church of Holy Spirit, includes pagan pillars taken from Ephesus and the Temple of Artemis and precious mosaics of Christianity and Islam. Hagia Sophia is converted into a mosque following the conquest of Istanbul.. Since 2020, the Hagia Sophia facilitates as a mosque and it is open to visitors.

Across Hagia Sophia stands the magnificent Blue Mosque, built in 1617 upon the order of Sultan Ahmet I. It is the only mosque with six minarets. Originally named as the Sultanahmet Mosque, it is also known as the Blue Mosque due to its handmade blue and turquoise porcelain tiles brought from Iznik.

Walking down the once The Hippodrome (known as At Meydanı), you will come across the 25-meter high Obelisk of Theodosius - an ancient Egyptian obelisk of Pharaoh Tutmoses III that is re-erected in the Hippodrome of Constantiople by the Roman emperor Theodosius I. The Eyp-tian inscriptions celebrate Tutmoses III's victories over the Mesopotamia area. Hippodrome area was a circus that was the sporting and social center of the city during the Byzantine rule. It was built between 203 to 330 AD dates with a length of 450 meters and a width of 130 meters. It is believed to have entertained 100,000 spectators at once. Now just like during the Byzantium and Ottoman reigns, many celebrations are organized.

BASILICA CISTERN

Built as a reservoir to hold significant water storage for the Hagia Sophia in the 6th century, then for the Topkapı Palace in the Ottoman period, the Basilica Cistern is today a significant art and culture centre of Istanbul.

The water stored here came from the Belgrade Forest via aqueducts. There are 336 marble columns each 9 meters long, in the Basilica, creating a very mysterious atmosphere. There is also a Medusa head and a Gorgon head under the two columns in the Cistern.

OLDEST SHOPPING MALL OF THE WORLD

The real appealing shopping site is the world famous "Grand Bazaar". 564 year old Bazaar features many beauties of the Ottoman and Turkish "arts & crafts" including carpets, ceramics, fabrics and famous Iznik and Kütahya tiles.

For a deeper understanding, you may want to visit some of the ceramics ateliers to witness the creation of the famous tiles that covers almost entire surface of the most famous mosques.

Known as Hagia Irene, meaning "Holy Wisdom" the St. Irene Church was built by the order of Byzantine Emperor Constantine I. After getting away from the Old City and taking a walk near the seaside you will witness The Maiden's Tower in the middle of the Marmara Sea in Istanbul. Another tower, Galata Tower is built in 1348 by the Genoese. This medieval stone tower has become one of the European side of Istanbul. Converted into a mosque in the 16th century in the Ottoman Era, now a museum since 1948, the Chora (Kariye in Turkish) is famous for its fine mosaics and frescoes. Turkish and Islamic Arts Museum opened in 1913 exhibits Quran manuscripts and religious books, again hand made carpets made of silk and other Anatolian fabrics.

Established in 1897 the Istanbul Naval Museum located in Beşiktaş contains an important collection of 20.000 military artifacts.

Topkapı Palace

the most visited landmarks of Istanbul.

Built in the 19th century the Dolmabahçe Palace has served as an administrative centre in the late Ottoman era.

Another marvelous palace is Çırağan Palace on the same avenue with Dolmabahçe. Built in 1861 by the order of Sultan Abdülaziz, Çırağan Palace has roofs and inner walls from wood and the outer walls of colorful marble.

Also as a culture capital Istanbul harbors important historical, arts and archeological museums. The Archeological Museums are consisted of three different museums; Archaeological Museum, Museum of the Ancient Orient and the Museum of Islamic Art.

Considered to be one of the most beautiful surviving examples of a Byzantine church, the Chora Church is serving as a museum in Edirnekapı area in Fatih on

THE BOSPHORUS

The Bosphorus is the strait that divides the city into European and Asian sides, and connects the Marmara Sea in the south to the Black Sea in the north. A very important strategic point, the Bosphorus has witnessed many wars during centuries. The shores of Bosphorus are lined with many beautiful houses and mansions. The historical peninsula is located on the European side near the Marmara Sea entrance of the Bosphorus, while Kadıköy, which used to house the summerhouses in the ancient times, is located on the opposite side of the Bosphorus. Frequent boat tours enable to have a closer look at the mansions and the glamorous Bosphorus area.

TOPKAPI PALACE

The primary residence for Ottoman Sultans for almost 400 years, Topkapı Palace is a large complex with hundreds of rooms and chambers built as a fine example of Ottoman architecture. The Palace Museum contains many holy relics of the Muslim world and Ottoman miniatures, Islamic calligraphy as well as Ottoman jewellery.

Ancient Hippodrome of Istanbul: Sultanahmet Square

If you are getting ready to visit Istanbul, without a shadow of doubt your first address will be Sultanahmet Square. The square is also known as the “Hippodrome” and “Horse Square”. Sultan Ahmed Mosque, Hagia Sophia, Topkapi Palace and Basilica Cistern, some of the most known touristic spots of Istanbul, are all within the borders of Hippodrome. The region has many touristic hotels, cafes, restaurants and shops and provides an entertaining and dynamic energy to tourists. The square was called “Horse Square” during the Ottoman period because the word hippodrome comes from the word hippos (horse) and dromos (path or way). Throughout the Byzantine period and even before those times, the square was the light of social life and used for horse racing and chariot racing. Although the structures do not exist anymore, if you look carefully, you can still see the remnants of the giant hippodrome. It is possible that much more of the Hippodrome’s remains still lie beneath the parkland of Sultanahmet Square.

DID YOU KNOW?

The city’s biggest attraction is its historic center, the historical peninsula, and it is partially listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

Istanbul's World-Famous Beauty: Sultan Ahmed Mosque (Blue Mosque)

Sultan Ahmed Mosque "the Blue Mosque" and its atmosphere trigger so many emotions and changes the nature of every single person who sets his or her foot inside. The mosque was constructed between 1609 and 1616 during the rule of Sultan Ahmed I and it is one of the most precious pieces of Turkish - Islamic architecture. The mosque was the primary imperial mosque of The Ottoman Empire and has five main domes, six minarets and eight secondary domes. The hand-painted blue tiles of the mosque's interior walls are well-known internationally and that's why the mosque is also called as the Blue Mosque. At its lower levels and at every pier, the interior of the mosque is lined with more than 20,000 handmade İznik style ceramic tiles which have more than 60 different tulip designs. The tiles symbolize peace and happiness. In the lower area the mosque has 200 stained glass windows. The dome and ceiling decorations of the mosque are also very remarkable. In 1985, the mosque was added into Historic Areas of Istanbul - UNESCO World Heritage Centre list. Besides being one of the most popular tourist attractions of Istanbul, it is also a working mosque and is therefore closed to tourists during prayer time.

THE ONE AND ONLY HAGIA SOPHIA MOSQUE

The Hagia Sophia, one of the historical architectural wonders of the world, has a very important place in the art world with its architecture, grandness, size and functionality. The Hagia Sophia, the biggest church constructed by the East Roman Empire in Istanbul, has been constructed three times in the same location. The church was the place in which rulers were crowned, and it was also the biggest operational cathedral in the city throughout the Byzantine period.

The first church was constructed by Emperor Konstantios (337-361) in 360. No remains have been recovered from the first church; however, the bricks found in the museum storage branded 'Megale Ekklesia' are predicted to belong to the first construction. The second church was reconstructed by Emperor Theodosios II (408-450) in 415. Some of the remains were found during excavations and architectural pieces that belong to the monumental entrance can be seen in the west garden. The current structure was constructed by Isidoros (Milet) and Anthemios (Tralles) by Emperor Justinianos's (527-565) orders between the dates 532 and 537. Resources show that on the opening day of the Hagia Sophia, Emperor Justinianos entered the temple and said, "My Lord, thank you for giving me chance to create such a worshipping place," and followed with the words "Süleyman, I beat you," referring to Süleyman's temple in Jerusalem. Following conquest of Istanbul in 1453, Hagia Sophia was renovated into a mosque.

DID YOU KNOW?

The hand-painted blue tiles of the mosque's interior walls are well-known internationally and that's why the mosque is also called as the Blue Mosque.

The structure was fortified and was well protected after this period, and remained as a mosque. Additional supporting pillars were installed during the East Roman and Ottoman periods. The minarets designed and implemented by Mimar Sinan have also served to this purpose.

The Hagia Sophia was converted into a museum on 1935 by Mustafa Kemal Atatürk's orders. In 2020, the Hagia Sophia was converted into a mosque and reopened to worship. The Hagia Sophia Mosque welcomes visitors from all around the world and is one of the most magnificent tourist attractions of Istanbul. The design and architecture of the mosque is unbelievably gorgeous.

ICOC, one of the supporters of the Istanbul Convention and Visitor's Bureau, the park was declared a conservation area. Dozens of trees which were in danger of dying were rescued, and some 2,000 new trees planted. This attractive 25 acre park is a habitat for the diverse flora of the Bosphorus.

A GLOBAL DESTINATION IN HEALTH TOURISM

Istanbul provides various quality options & a cutting-edge technology for medical tourism and in the past few years, the city became a center of medical tourism.

Medical or health tourism is one of the ancient tourism types. Since Ancient Greece, patients have always looked far away for their cures. In the past few years, Türkiye in general became a center of medical tourism with its cutting-edge technological medical equipment, world-class doctors and hospitals and world renowned hospitality. Türkiye is also one of the world's top seven countries for thermal springs, with about 1,500 natural hot spring water resources. According to the Thermal Health and Tourism Association (TESTUD), Türkiye attracted nearly 1 million people for health tourism in 2018. Besides being an indispensable holiday destination for tourists, especially those from Asia, Europe and the Middle East, Türkiye has also seen considerable growth in health care tourism in recent years. The number of health tourists has increased tenfold in the past decade, with 75,000 visitors coming for health reasons in 2008. In 2017, that number rose to 700,000 medical tourists, according to the Istanbul International Health Tourism Association (ISTUSAD). Health Minister of Türkiye recently said that Türkiye's revenue in health tourism has reached $1.5 billion, and that they aim to increase this revenue five times by 2030. Receiving qualified service with low prices caused many patients from the world to flock to Türkiye, he said. Health tourism encompasses a wide range of treatments, from medical tourism (such as treatment and surgery in hospitals), thermal tourism (services such as rehabilitation and rest in thermal facilities), elderly and disabled tourism (long-term stays with social activities in geriatric treatment centers).

World countries now recognize Istanbul as a rising medical tourism center. Türkiye has become first choice of tourists because of its good doctors, easy transportation, high health technology and location. Istanbul has become head health center of Türkiye because of its location between Europe and Asia. Istanbul, combines its medical resources as like Wellness, Spa with five star hotels and gives qualified and advantage tourism packages to health tourists. Tourists' needs who come to Türkiye for health are met by specialist health personnel and agency authorities.

Hair Transplant

World-class treatment at affordable prices make Istanbul a top destination for people from European and Middle Eastern countries looking to get hair transplants, an important component of the country's health tourism sector. The top choice for hair transplants in Europe, Türkiye welcomes people from Middle East, Gulf countries and European countries for hair transplant operations. The quality of services and affordable prices has enabled Türkiye to be ranked third in hair transplant procedures worldwide. Türkiye offers world class medical facilities at affordable prices for a hair transplant procedures which cost around $15,000 in the U.S. and most European countries, and $2,000 to $4,000 in Türkiye. In hair transplantation surgery, two surgical techniques — Follicular Unit Transplantation (FUT) and Follicular Unit Extraction (FUE) are widely used to remove hair from a patient's scalp. In the FUE technique, widely implemented in Türkiye, each hair graft is removed from the donor site one by one using a punch tool. The advantage of the technique is that scarring is avoided, while the FUT technique leaves a permanent scar on the donor and recipient sites. Located in the middle of Europe, Asia, Middle East and Africa, Türkiye, she said, reserves a huge potential to boost the market with its geographically significant location. The references of patients bring most of the others for hair transplants in Türkiye.

THE QUALITY OF SERVICE OF TÜRKIYE'S HEALTH INSTITUTIONS ARE APPROVED BY INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS SUCH AS JCI (JOINT COMMISSIONS INTERNATIONAL), JCAOH (JOINT COMMISSION ON ACCREDITATION OF HEALTHCARE ORGANIZATIONS) AND ISO (INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION FOR STANDARDIZATION).

Aesthetic Operations

When it comes to health tourism, most of the tourists are coming to Istanbul for aesthetic surgery, such as nose surgery, eyelid, face and abdominal lifting and liposuction. Approximate prices in Istanbul are below most of the European countries. Plastic surgery is one of the top forms of medical tourism worldwide, and Istanbul has made major strides in developing its medical tourism sector by implementing policies that effectively facilitate the process for tourists. Hundreds of thousands of medical tourists, particularly from the Middle East, visit Türkiye for plastic surgeries.

Bariatric Surgery

If you cannot lose weight through weight loss methods such as diet, sports etc. surgical operations that provide permanent weight loss are called bariatric surgery. With the progress of technology and the development of new methods, the success rate of today's obesity surgeries is very high. Compared to the old obesity surgeries, the complications after a surgery have decreased in great extent and the healing period has shortened. Obesity and its comorbidities are among the primary challenges faced by health systems globally. Obesity is rapidly becoming a problem in Türkiye, as well. Istanbul has experienced hospitals and health centers, offering bariatric surgery for all ages.

Laser Eye Surgery

Laser, which is the most commonly used method around the world for refractive surgeries, is also used for the treatment of myopia, hyperopia and astigmatism. Customized intraocular lens replacement surgeries are performed for people who are not suitable for laser surgery. Many patients choose to have their laser eye surgery in Istanbul due to the level of experience and quality of service. The prices are much better compared to other countries. Most of the medical care packages provided for foreigners usually cover accommodation and vacation costs.

WHAT'S HAPPENING IN THE CITY?

THE ISTANBUL BIENNIAL

The Istanbul Foundation for Culture and Arts (İKSVA) has been organizing the Istanbul Biennial since 1987. The biennial aims to create a meeting point in Istanbul, in the field of visual arts between artists from diverse cultures and the audience. The fifteen biennials İKSVA has organized up to now have enabled the formation of an international cultural network between local and international art circles, artists, curators and art critics by bringing together new trends in contemporary art every two years. Considered as one of the most prestigious biennials alongside Venice, São Paulo and Sydney, the Istanbul Biennial prefers an exhibition model which enables a dialogue between artists and the audience through the work of the artists instead of a national representation model. The curator, appointed by an international advisory board, develops a conceptual framework according to which a variety of artists and projects are invited to the exhibition.

CONTEMPORARY ISTANBUL

Contemporary Istanbul is the leading annual art fair in Türkiye, situated at the meeting point of Europe and Asia in one of the great cities of the world. Contemporary Istanbul takes place each September and offers a platform for the city's thriving art scene, growing art market and collector base, as well as an access point to the best contemporary art from the wider region. CI is also conducting activities throughout the year to develop contemporary art and culture and to increase awareness in the field and to promote them both inside and outside Türkiye as well as to strengthen relations in the region by organizing international events and programs.

THE ISTANBUL FILM FESTIVAL

The Istanbul Film Festival was first presented as a film week in the summer of 1982, within the framework of the International Istanbul Festival. The grand prize of the festival, the first ever Golden Tulip, was given this year to Michael Radford for his film 1984. Accredited by FIAPF (International Federation of Film Producers Associations) in 1989 as a "specialized competitive festival", the "film week" thus was renamed the Istanbul Film Festival. The festival awards the Golden Tulip to a film that reflects "new perspectives in cinema." The Festival features an international competition, provides a broad showcase for recent Turkish film productions, and thus represents a rewarding medium where Turkish and foreign filmmakers get together. The Festival draws a special interest to world classics, presenting retrospectives, and curated sections included in its program which comprises close to 200 titles, making it the most comprehensive film festival in Türkiye. With an admission number of 110,000 in 2019, it is also considered the biggest film festival.

THE ISTANBUL MUSIC FESTIVAL

as Symphonieorchester des Bayerischen Rundfunks, New York Philharmonic, Berlin Philharmonic, Vienna Philharmonic, Royal Concertgebouw Orchestra, Simon Bolivar Symphony Orchestra, Orchestre de Paris and more. A distinguished line-up of international soloists such as Elizabeth Swarzkopf, Kiri Te Kanawa, Kathleen Battle, Cecilia Bartoli, Montserrat Caballé, Renée Fleming, Itzhak Perlman and Anne Sophie Mutter. Being the oldest of the Istanbul Festivals, which became landmarks of cultural life in Türkiye, the Istanbul Music Festival has also earned a reputation for its major role in encouraging research in musicology and in launching special projects on shared cultural values through its productions.

ISTANBUL JAZZ FESTIVAL

Istanbul Jazz Festival is organised every year in July since 1994 by the Istanbul Foundation for Culture and Arts (İKSVA). İKSVA chose to build this festival around jazz music because it believes jazz is one of the most innovative musical genres – open to new ideas, inclusive and accessible. Accordingly, İKSVA organizes a broad-spectrum event that not only brings together music lovers and musicians, but also supports the work of jazz musicians in Türkiye and encourages new productions. Istanbul Jazz Festival features classical and modern jazz, Latin and Nordic jazz, works combining electronic music and jazz, and other music categories, such as rock, pop, reggae, funk and world music. Each year, the festival attracts thousands of people to more than 30 concerts held at various historical venues of Istanbul, such as Hagia Eirene Museum, Istanbul Archaeological Museums, Esma Sultan Mansion, as well as extra-ordinary outdoor venues and courtyards of landmark buildings around the city.

THE ISTANBUL THEATRE FESTIVAL

An international event bringing together theatre companies and dance groups from Türkiye and abroad with the audience, The Istanbul Theatre Festival was first held in 1989. Organised biennially since 2002, Istanbul Theatre Festival returned to an annual cycle in 2017 after 15 years. Once every year, the festival hosts carefully selected companies and artists that open up new horizons for both the audience and the art world by bringing national and international, classical and contemporary renditions to the stage through its unique lens. The Istanbul Theatre Festival, together with the Avignon Festival, the Athens & Epidaurus Festival, the Grec Festival, has formed the European Network of Mediterranean Festivals entitled Kadmos.

İKSVA organizes the Pavilion of Türkiye at the International Art and Architecture Exhibitions of la Biennale di Venezia, conducts studies and drafts reports with the aim of contributing to cultural policy development, and supports artistic and cultural production through presenting awards at its festivals, commissioning works, taking part in international and local co-productions and coordinating an artist residency program at Cité Internationale des Arts in France, as well as the annual Aydın Gün Encouragement, Talât Sait Halman Translation, and Gülriz Sururi-Engin Cezzar Theatre Encouragement Awards. CITY OF SPORTS

Istanbul is always known for its history, outstandingly; the city is also the capital of various sports. All branches of sports from soccer to swimming are a huge part of Istanbul's culture. Let's explore...

Since Constantine's gladiators, Istanbul has always been a city of sports and fandom. Without a shadow of a doubt, most important branch of sports in Istanbul is soccer. The city has 3 big soccer clubs, all of which are older than a hundred years, and they have very devoted fans. Beşiktaş, Fenerbahçe and Galatasaray all have impressive stadiums and millions of fans from all around Türkiye and derbies between these teams are very important culturally. The city also hosted some of the most unforgettable games of Champions League and Super Cup. In addition, every year, Istanbul hosts one or more European or global sports organization such as Final Four, World Cup or Formula 1 Championship. In addition, two very special sports events are held in Istanbul every year: Cross-Continental Swimming Race and the Istanbul (Eurasia) Marathon. This city lives and breathes with different types of sports and every single Istanbulite is passionate about at least one of them.

A Thrilling Competition: Samsung Bosphorus Cross-Continental Swimming Race

The Bosphorus Cross-Continental Race is an environmentally respectful "matchless experience" which allows thousands of swimmers from all around the world to meet in Istanbul every year. The race starts in Kanlıca neighborhood on the Asian side of Istanbul and ends at Kuruçeşme on the European side, covering a distance of 6.5 kilometers (4 miles).

World's One and Only Intercontinental Race: Istanbul Marathon

The Istanbul Marathon (formerly Eurasia Marathon) is an international athletics event organized in Istanbul every year since 1979. It is the only course in the world where the marathon includes two continents, Asia and Europe, in one race.

The marathon starts on the Asian side of the city, shortly before the first Bosphorus Bridge, crosses the bridge giving an outstanding view of the Bosphorus and Istanbul, passes many amazing views of historic sites including the Blue Mosque and Hagia Sophia, and ends in Beşiktaş district in the European part. Every year, more than 100,000 Istanbul residents and tourists attend the race and it is listed as Europe's 17th best marathon.

2023 UEFA Champions League Final in Istanbul

The 2023 Champions League final was held in Istanbul on June 10th at the Atatürk Olympic Stadium with its 74,753 (all-seater) capacity. It was the second time Istanbul hosted the European club football's most important game. In 2005, the Turkish metropolis hosted one of the most iconic and epic finals in history between Milan and Liverpool. The "final identity," as the UEFA called it, featured famous Istanbul landmarks, including the July 15 Martyrs' Bridge, previously the Bosphorus Bridge, the Galata Tower and the Valens Aqueduct.

The 2023 identity was based on an abstract depiction of the city at sunset and it was inspired "by the rich colors of the Istanbul sky and the vivid lights of this bustling city."

Access & Transportation
YOU CAN

Easily accessible from all around the world

Located in the heart of the world, Istanbul is easily accessible by air, rail, sea and road. The city has two international airports: Istanbul Airport on the European side and the Sabiha Gökçen International Airport on the Asian side. Thanks to the Turkish Airlines' massive network (flying to more countries in the world than any other airline) Istanbul became a more popular and widely used transportation hub. Two billion people living within six hours' flying time of Istanbul and being the only city on two continents gives the city a unique and privileged position.

Another reason for easy access is the electronic visa application system that offers to its applicants a comfortable and practical way to obtain visa.

Apart from the air travel; getting to Istanbul can also be achieved by rail, highway and sea transports. While going around within Istanbul, the city has a huge network of public transportation with its highway, rail and funicular systems and sea transport services.

World's Fastest-Growing Metro Line: Metro Istanbul

Metro Istanbul was established as an affiliate company by Istanbul Metropolitan Municipality in 1988 to operate railway system network in Istanbul. Metro Istanbul continues to operate existing tram, metro, light rail, funicular and aerial cable car lines as an affiliate company of Istanbul Metropolitan Municipality. Metro Istanbul has a vision of becoming an exemplary brand in the world. Winning UITP's (International Association of Public Transport) best practice award in meeting high passenger demand with T1 Kabataş-Bağcılar Tram Line is a significant indicator of this vision. Length of urban rail system network in Istanbul is 297,22 km and Metro Istanbul operates 207,72 km of this network and Metro Istanbul renders services to 2 million people every day with its 18 urban rail system lines within this network. Metro Istanbul continues to work for its aim of carrying Istanbul to the future by rendering fast and effective transportation services at world standards, constantly enhancing its transportation technologies, constantly investing in Research & Development and Human Resources.

Symbol of Public Transportation: Tram

The 19th century's popular transportation vehicle tram was first used in United States in 1852 and Paris in 1855. Istanbul met with this modern vehicle in 1871. Horse-drawn trams started working between Azapkapı and Beşiktaş. After the attention they received, the system spread rapidly to the whole city. At the end of the first year, the tram system carried four and a half million passengers in Istanbul with 430 horses. Trams were a very fashionable way of transportation in the Ottoman Empire. In 1914, trams came back to the lives of Istanbul residents as electric vehicles. In 1933, Türkiye's founder Atatürk directly gave an order to have 320 more trams within the city. However, around 1960s trams weren't able to keep up with the pace and size of the city and in 1966 trams of the city worked one last time and left their place to Trolleybuses. Though Istanbul residents never forgot trams... So much so that, the question of restoring old wagons at the museum and electric trams once again coming into service for nostalgia arose in 1989. The most suitable place for this project was Istiklal Street which was getting ready for pedestrianization. Thus today's nostalgic tram line at Taksim started operating. The tram was embraced instantly with its red & white colors and original structure and became the symbol of Istiklal Street, Beyoğlu, Istanbul and Türkiye.

World's Second Oldest Metro Line: The Tunnel

Istanbul's very own Tunnel allows you to travel from Karaköy to Galata. It is known as the world's second oldest metro line which has been serving the city for the last 150 years. A French architect Eugene-Henri Gavand, visited Istanbul in 1867 and observed that a large number of people walked the steep road between Galata and Karaköy every day. In 1871, he decided to design an underground railway in the form of a lift between these two locations so that the people and goods could be transported. After the approval of Sultan Abdulaziz, Gavand completed the Tunnel in just four years. The line was renewed in 1968 for electricity and has been providing non-stop service since 1971. The 573 meter long Tunnel has a single-wagon metro and travels the distance in 90 seconds. Since the alternative of the Tunnel is the 1000-step stairway, that 90 seconds means a lot to Istanbul residents. Today, the Tunnel is still used actively by Istanbul residents and offers a magical and nostalgic atmosphere to everyone for 90 seconds.

Istanbul's Wheeled-Metro: Metrobus

Metrobus is one of the most creative solutions produced in order to decrease Istanbul's traffic density. The system was put into service in 2007. Metrobus works on the most important arterial road of the city and crosses between continents. The system allows passengers to transit through specific roads and saves time by shortening the distances. There are now 535 vehicles working within the system and each vehicle arrives 30 seconds apart. Metrobus carries almost one million passengers daily. Even though it gets a little crowded during rush hour, Metrobus has a very important role within urban transportation. With its environmentally-friendly and comfortable vehicles, Metrobus is almost like a wheeled-metro. If you are in a rush in Istanbul, keep in mind that you can always choose to travel with Metrobus.

World's New "Silk Road": Marmaray

Marmaray is the 76.6 km long commuter rail line of Istanbul. It comprises a rail tunnel under the Bosphorus strait, and the modernization of existing suburban railway lines along the Sea of Marmara from Halkali on the European side to Gebze on the Asian side. The procurement of new rolling stock for suburban passenger traffic is also a part of the project. Marmaray is the fourth underground system of the city. The name "Marmaray" comes from combining the name of the Sea of Marmara, which lies just south of the project site, with ray, the Turkish word for rail.

Shortest Road between Two Continents: Eurasia Tunnel

In Istanbul, there are many different ways to travel from one continent to the other. The brand new Eurasia Tunnel is the most special way to do it because it is world's first and only highway tunnel which connects the Asian and European continents.

Every single story of Istanbul has Asian and European bits in it and it is not possible to isolate Istanbul from the monumental stories of these two continents. For centuries, Istanbul's story has been about the power of uniting these two continents. That's why, Eurasia Tunnel is one of a kind and its place in history very significant.

Eurasia Tunnel is world's first twin-deck highway tunnel crossing beneath the seafloor. The tunnel covers a route of 14.6 kilometers. While the 5.4-kilometer section of the project consists of a twin-deck tunnel under the seafloor built with special technology and connection tunnels, a total of 9.2-kilometer routes on both the Asian and European sides includes road expansion and improvement works. It only takes 15 minutes to cross between continents. Eurasia Tunnel is an exemplary, world-class project with its sensitive approach to the environment, community and city. The air quality in the region is continuously monitored and it is being ensured that the emission values meet set standards.

Türkiye's 2nd and Europe's 8th busiest air hub, ISG proudly welcomed over 41.5 million passengers in 2024. Spanning an expansive 320,000 square meters, ISG is thoughtfully equipped with extensive parking facilities, a prominent Duty-Free precinct, and a multitude of check-in counters. These comprehensive amenities are meticulously designed to ensure a seamless and gratifying travel experience for air passengers from their arrival at the terminal to their departure at the board-gate.

ISG's distinctive roof design draws inspiration from the iconic seven hills of Istanbul, a harmonious blend of cultural heritage and contemporary vision. The terminal building itself is a testament to modern engineering, incorporating state-of-the-art mechanical, electrical, electronic, and air navigation systems. Notably, it is also distinguished as one of the world's largest earthquake-resistant constructions and the largest earthquake-proof monoblock building ever constructed.

ISG, Your Airport of Choice

Serving one of Europe's most populous cities, Istanbul, ISG takes pride in its connectivity to the city with a population of close to 16 million people via two major highways and a metro line, bridging the distance between Pendik (12 KM), Kadıköy

(31 KM), and Taksim(40 KM). The 7.4 KM metro line has 23 stations with a daily capacity to serve 1.2 million people and can reduce traveling time between the airport terminal and Kadıköy to just 50 minutes.

Great Customer Experience Starts Here

Getting around the airport is a breeze thanks to its smart and simple design. Everything you might need, from shops to quiet spots to relax, is just a short walk away. ISG takes pride in its continuous and proactive measures to enhance customer experience with the introduction of new gates, unlimited free Wi-Fi for passengers, modern control points as well as self-service bag drop points.

For weary travelers, ISG Airport Hotel is available for them to have a comfortable and enjoyable stay to wind down from their busy work and traveling schedule. The spacious and tastefully furnished 128-room hotel is located just next to the terminal and is easily accessible with the free shuttle.

For those needing a shorter break while traveling, Kepler Sleeping Cabins are a great option right inside the terminal. There are separate areas with cozy sleeping pods for men and women, plus a few family rooms. You can get some rest, sleep soundly, and even take a shower without leaving the airport.

At ISG Airport, you will find a wide variety of shops for gifts, luxury items, and duty-free goods, along with plenty of places to eat. It is your one-stop destination for both. Anchored by Switzerland-based Duty-Free operator DUFURY, it offers an attractive assortment of core travel retail categories such as liquor, tobacco, perfume and cosmetics. Beyond that, you can discover lovely local shops with Turkish food and souvenirs, offering a little taste of Türkiye's culture and special items.

SAVVy: A seamless airport journey with innovative technology

ISG's dedication to service and technology has resonated with travelers, earning the airport prestigious recognition as a leading brand. In 2024, this commitment was acknowledged with the "Digital Innovation Award" from IDC Future Enterprise Awards and the "Customer Engagement Award" by Technology Captains Awards.

A significant stride in enhancing the airport journey at Sabiha Gökçen International Airport is the introduction of SAVVy, a transformative airport assistant built upon advanced Generative AI. This first-of-its-kind tool proudly carries the name SAVVy, an intelligent derivation from the airport's IATA code "SAW", symbolizing the airport's commitment to innovation.

SAVVy is designed to provide instant responses to passenger inquiries in a conversational style, allowing call center staff to focus on more complex issues. Leveraging the power of natural language processing (NLP), SAVVy establishes a novel benchmark in airport customer service by facilitating real-time, intuitively human-like interactions.

SAVVy gives you live flight information, straightforward answers to common travel questions, and shows you where to find parking, all in real-time. This helps you save time and enjoy a more relaxed airport experience.

For Turkish passengers, ISG offers even quicker ways to get to their flights. Using their chip ID cards, they can breeze through the boarding gates. This system makes things fast and smooth without sacrificing safety, as everything is watched by smart cameras with artificial intelligence. Plus, if you're a Turkish citizen over 12 with a chip in your passport, you can skip the line at passport control by using the e-passport gates for a super quick and easy passage.

For an even better airport experience, ISG provides a mobile app that puts you in control. You can use it to check in for your flights, track your flight's progress and gate information, easily navigate the airport with built-in maps, and stay up-to-date on the newest deals and special offers available throughout the airport.

ISG heavily invests in its business continuity initiatives, cyber security and automated IT infrastructure, working on point-to-point connectivity for virtual interlining and digitalisation to enable data integration with third parties via blockchain to provide fast and accurate information flow to further elevate the customer experience. The airport also strives for a greener environment and a more sustainable future by actively engaging all levels of authorities and stakeholders in managing and recycling the waste produced at the airport.

Continuous Development in Airport Infrastructure

With a lot more passengers traveling through ISG, the airport is making it a priority to speed things up in the terminal by constantly making improvements. In 2024, ISG invested €35 million in 24 projects to make moving through the terminal faster and more comfortable. This work is still happening in 2025 in the main terminal, T2 (which is 15 years old), with a focus on making the restrooms, lounges, shopping areas, and waiting spaces more comfortable and efficient.

ISG is also working hard behind the scenes to speed things up. In 2024, ISG upgraded the baggage system with a €12 million investment to handle more bags as passenger numbers grow. The airport has added more X-ray machines for quicker security checks (now 110, up from 88). The arrivals area is now larger with more waiting room, and they've more than doubled the quick e-passport gates (from 8 to 19) by moving them to a better location, meaning less waiting for everyone.

The biggest step forward for ISG in 2025 is the complete renovation of the T1 terminal. Once this older terminal is connected to the main terminal (T2) by a walkway, it will provide 8 new boarding gates, making international travel much smoother. This key development is part of ISG's continuous effort to enhance travel experience at the airport. ISG is allocating €7 million towards a strategic parking expansion project to further increase the passenger satisfaction by augmenting parking capacity by 23%, thereby proactively addressing the growing demand for private vehicle access for those choosing to drive.

Galataport Istanbul reattributes 1.2 kilometers of the Bosphorus waterfront back to the city by building the world's first underground terminal, redefining Istanbul's historic port into a buzzing gastronomy, arts & culture and shopping neighborhood. Galataport has very quickly become Istanbul's favorite meeting spot since opening in October 2021. With a total investment value of $1.7 billion, Galataport Istanbul has been designed with a horizontal open-air urban planning approach with accessible low-rise buildings, in harmony with the historical texture of the area, offering its guests a breath of fresh air in a healthy and safe atmosphere. World's First Underground Terminal

Galataport is home to state-of-the-art cruise facilities, including the world's first underground cruise ship terminal. The 29,000 sqm Galataport Istanbul Cruise Terminal, designed with a unique hatch system connected to an underground terminal, creates a temporary customs area while a ship is in port, which converts Istanbul's historic port into a unique promenade in an area that has been closed to public access since late 19th century, and leaves the coastline free after the ship departs. The innovative design and infrastructure of the underground cruise terminal not only enables public access to this historic promenade for the first time since the 19th century but also strengthens Istanbul's status as a hub port city. Galataport Istanbul is capable of accommodating three ships and 15,000 passengers a day, and the infrastructure lets it accommodate icon-class cruise ships, which are the world's largest vessels with more than 8,000 passengers including crew. The cruise terminal's architecture and interior design won the international design award Red Dot which has been rewarding outstanding product designs globally since 1955. Inspired by Istanbul's famed underground cisterns built especially during the Roman and Byzantine empires, the design addresses aesthetic aspects as well as functional requirements of a cruise terminal to leave an everlasting first impression on passengers. Galataport Istanbul's game changer approach and innovations applied to operational processes, globally regarded as exemplary, were some of the factors that brought home the prestigious award, "Port of the Year" at the Seatrade Cruise Awards.

Sustainability

Galataport İstanbul is the second largest project in Europe to receive the LEED Platinum rating after taking into consideration a multitude of sustainability measures such as a highly efficient HVAC design with seawater hydrothermal cooling, exceeding international sustainability standards for indoor air quality, energy efficiency and water efficiency as well as environmentally conscious construction practices. From the design to construction to operations, particular attention was paid to minimize the negative impact on the environment and reduce the project's carbon footprint. All buildings in Galataport İstanbul use seawater as a coolant instead of cooling gases, which saves energy, reduces carbon emissions and replaces harmful cooling gases that contribute to climate change. Endemic plants to İstanbul and efficient irrigation systems help save 50% more water and the use of landscaped areas and green roofs are expected to reduce the heat island effect. On a quarterly basis, seawater quality, particles, dust and noise level are measured to monitor the project's environment impact and marine ecology monitoring is performed annually. In 2021, MedCruise, the Association of Mediterranean Cruise Ports, recognized Galataport İstanbul with the "Environmental Responsibility Award" for developing environment friendly projects, and in 2020, even before its opening, with the "Adaptation and Resilience Award" for demonstrating the best capacity for adapting during the COVID-19 pandemic.
